Message from the Rector

Dear Readers,

I am pleased to inform you that PSC Newsletter has been turned to its 5th year through this edition and I am welcoming you all to the news source of this centre of excellence. I am very excited to share with you some magnificent developments of PSC at this stage.

As you know, in order to succeed, we need to grow continuously to run along with the ever-quicken pace of the world. Police Staff College, from the very beginning, has continued to demonstrate impressive growth in terms of training offerings and conduct, research and development and most significantly building linkages with the like-minded national/international partners and academia. This growth has enabled us to be innovative, capable, dynamic, efficient which will heavily support our endeavours for excellence.

In this term, PSC attains a momentum for its new era, an era of opportunity and prospect. It can attract the attention of Australia's leading university - Macquarie University which has an established setting of policing, intelligence and counterterrorism research. They have responded to our request given consent to assist us in our capacity building initiatives. As a result, the Department of Security Studies and Criminology, Macquarie University has offered us a crucial course on 'Countering Violent Extremism' in Sydney campus under the Australian Government funding. Further, we are moving to develop an MoU with this university to enrich PSC both academically and intuitively. All these efforts reaffirm our belief in the strength of our organization, our outcomes and our future directions.

I am also impressed by the innovative approaches of PSC. It has launched a new course on counter terrorism for the Superintendents of Police and accomplished SAARC international course for the 4th consecutive time which can be marked as significant. I am pleased with the infrastructural development of PSC in the last tenures. It has completed the 5th floor of the dormitory and 4th floor of the administrative building that will provide enhanced learning environment not only for the trainees but also for the upcoming Masters students of PSC.

Before ending this message, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank the contributors to the current and previous issues of PSC Newsletter and to express my appreciation particularly to Mr. Md. Matiur Rahman Sheikh – the Editor and the spirit of PSC Newsletter – for bringing to life this important channel of communication between PSC and our stakeholders.

Sincerely,

Dr. M. Sadiq-ur-Rahman

Rector

Message from the Vice Rector

Greetings! After assuming my role as the Vice Rector, it is my great pleasure to communicate with you through this newsletter. I am very fascinated with the academic environment of Police Staff College Bangladesh (PSC) and its gradual development in many aspects.

Since its founding in 2000, PSC has grown to become Bangladesh Police's flagship, research-led institution, known for the excellence of its training, research and its collaboration with national and international like-minded partners.

As we look to the future, we must go with the knowledge based resources. Our challenge is to help to generate ideas that will benefit the society and to educate and train Police to efficiently work in the field where they will be valued both for their specialized knowledge and for their ability to communicate and think critically to solve the problems.

To meet these challenges we need to build on the alliances and collaborative partnerships with the relevant institutions which can help us to elevate ourselves to the international level. It is praiseworthy that PSC is excelling in this effort- and notably for the first time – through making professional linkage with Australia's leading university- Macquarie University with the support from Australian Government. This engagement with world academia will help to enrich our teaching, learning and research and thereby ensuring our continued excellence. It is equally important we keep close to the interest of Bangladesh Government on its future vision and directions.

To find out more about the College's history, training and research strengths, our diverse networks and our vibrant campuses, please visit our website at www.psc.gov.bd

We look forward to welcoming you to the Police Staff College Bangladesh!

Sincerely yours,

Mohammad Ibrahim Fatemi bpm, ppm

Change in the PSC Leadership

According to the former USA President John F. Kennedy; change is the law of life. This dictum unobscures that change is inevitable. Likewise, transfer is a regular and common phenomenon in police service. With this consequence, a new chapter of leadership has been placed at PSC with the new driving forces, visions and processes that will fuel large-scale transformation. Therefore, Dr. M. Sadiq-ur-Rahman has recently substituted Ms. Fatema Begum, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh.

Under the dynamic and charismatic leadership of Dr. M. Sadiq-ur-Rahman, PSC will gradually flourish with its name and fame. His rock-solid, diamond-hard and diversified knowledge and experience will lead PSC from its root to its zenith with the accomplishment of its mission and vision.

4th SAARC Course on 'Transnational Crime: SAARC Perspective': An International Course for the SAARC Police Officers in the Rank of SP

PSC is very proud to arrange its international course 'Transnational Organized Crime: SAARC Perspective' in the 4th consecutive year. It is indeed a commendable success for PSC to continue such an international course in a regular manner. PSC started the SAARC course journey from 2013 and this year the drive moved to the 4th consecutive year.

Today, a criminal considers the world as his fertile land. He commits a crime in one country, deposits the money in an offshore bank and takes refuge in another country. The widespread political, economic, social and technological changes have allowed criminals to become hyper active in the international arena. They are taking full advantage of globalization. The problems raised by the current acceleration of the globalization process cannot be brought under control unless we stand under the same umbrella with the regional solidarity.

The scourge of terrorism has for long afflicted South Asia causing extensive social disharmony. Since terrorism poses a serious threat to peace and cooperation, and friendly and good neighborly relations, thus cooperative security is the most pressing with regard to the threats posed by terrorism in this region. We know that the transnational character of terrorism erodes external-internal security distinctions. It requires a combination of unilateral, bilateral and multilateral approaches. Hence, recognizing the need for region wide cooperation to combat all forms and manifestations of terrorism, SAARC has successfully provided a rock solid platform for multilateral approaches to the regional fight against terrorism.

The 4th SAARC course was conducted over the period from 14 to 25 February 2015. Unlike previous years, this year the course duration was reduced from 3 to 2 weeks in response to the request from the participants. 19 topics under 6 modules were taught over 2 weeks. This year we got 17 participants which were lower than the previous times. In gender context, only one participant was female and she was from Bangladesh. Bhutan, Maldives and Sri Lanka participated this time while there were no participations from Afghanistan, India, Nepal and Pakistan. Eleven participants represented the host country Bangladesh. The participants were mostly in the rank of Superintendents. It was a residential type of course where participants are provided with individual suit having world class room, dietary and other facilities including the high speed internet facilities.

A warm welcome of Mr. Asaduzzaman Khan, Honourable Minister, Ministry of Home Affairs in the inaugural of SAARC course

On April 12, 2016, Police Staff College was highly delighted and honoured to receive a high profile visit from the world renowned academia - Macquarie University, Sydney, Australia. Professor Dr. Sherman Young, Pro Vice-Chancellor (Learning & Teaching) and Dr. Julian Droogan, Senior Lecturer, the Department of Security Studies and Criminology (DSSC) had a gracious visit at PSC. The visiting academicians were accompanied by Mr. Tanveer Shaheed, Senior Country Manager- South Asia, Macquarie International. There were in a short visit in Bangladesh and had their presence at PSC in response to PSC's request.

Highlights of PSC-MQ Ongoing Linkages

- Macquarie University (MQ), Australia offers a 3-weeks long professional development course for Bangladesh Police officials on 'Countering Violent Extremism (CVE)' to be held in Sydney under the Australian Government funding.
- Keynote speech by the MQ faculty and renowned CVE expert Dr. Julian Droogan at PSC
- A proposal of MoU between PSC and MQ.
- Visit of senior academics from MQ time to time including the Pro VC and the Dean, School of Law.

Although, it was their first visit in Bangladesh and certainly at PSC, it was not the first foot-step from Macquarie University at PSC. The visit of the senior academicians from MQ to PSC was an extended part of the ongoing relationship between Police Staff College and the Macquarie University. Last year in April, DSSC's (former PICT) the then Head and present Dean, Macquarie Law School Prof. Dr. Natalie Klein visited PSC and opened the avenue of potential collaborations between the two institutions. This year, Macquarie University's Department of Security Studies and Criminology has offered a professional development course on 'Countering Violent Extremism (CVE)' in response to a request from the PSC to assist Bangladesh Police to build conceptual understanding of the issues surrounding CVE, including Australian and global best practice in law enforcement responses to communities suffering from the pressures of radicalization to extremism and violence. This three-week long course will be conducted at the Macquarie University, Sydney in the mid-February 2017 under the Australian Government's Australia Award Fellowship program. This was a tremendous drive of PSC and its success will surely be credited as the milestone of PSC.

Macquarie University delegates are signing in the visitor's book

This collaboration effort was coordinated by Rawshan Sadia Afroze, Deputy Director (Planning, Evaluation & Coordination), PSC who is also the alumna of Macquarie University. She worked closely with her counterpart Dr. Julian Droogan of Macquarie University whose sincere efforts and constant support make this program successful. It was an excellent opportunity for PSC to get acquainted the visiting professors with the college profiles and academic activities. Their presence at PSC has underscored the importance of this centre of excellence.

Police Staff College Bangladesh had arranged three different events in honour of the visiting fellows. An official meeting between the visiting fellows and the PSC's senior leaders was arranged in the morning of the day, which was followed by a half-day long workshop where Dr. Julian Droogan was a Key note speaker to speak on "Countering Violent Extremism and Addressing Youth Radicalization". Lastly, PSC hosted a dinner in honour of them at Dhaka's Picasso restaurant on the same night where Ms. Sally-Anne Vincent, Deputy Head of Mission, Australian High Commission, Dhaka and her husband Mr. David Jones; Mr. Nahil Imam, Program Manager, Development Cooperation, Australian High Commission, Dhaka; and Mr. Rod Sollesta, Country Program Manager-Australia Awards Bangladesh Office were also present.

On their arrival at PSC, Prof Sherman and his associates Dr. Julian and Mr. Tanveer were received by the college faculties with the floral bouquet. They joined a cordial meeting with the Rector Ms Fatema Begum (Addl IGP). The Vice Rector Mr. Mohammad Imbrahim Fatemi bpm, ppm and other senior faculties including the Member Directing Staff (MDS) - Mr. Md. Matiur Rahman Sheikh, MDS (Research, Planning & Evaluation) and Mr. Md. Golam Rasul, MDS (Training) attended the meeting and had a fruitful conversation. The visiting fellows were briefed on college's roles, mission/vision, training and research activities. During the meeting, Rector and the PSC's senior leaderships exchanged many thoughts on capacity developments of PSC. They discussed on increasing importance of partnerships and how the college contributes to national priority through its educational, research and outreach initiatives getting the constructive support from such engagement. The visiting fellows were highly impressed by the exciting achievements and outstanding facilities of PSC as well as the beautiful landscape of the campus. The Rector, in her discussion, articulated some areas where Macquarie University could have important contribution. These are as follows:

Floral reception of the visiting fellows of the Macquarie University

1. Joint research
2. Joint conference/seminar
3. Exchange of academic materials
4. Short training on capacity building/ quality assurance/research excellence
5. Sharing of academic expertise.

It was accepted with a consensus that both the institutions have ample scopes to contribute in the academic arenas under a common platform and interest. Then the college presented a concept paper proposing major areas of co-operations to draft a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) between the two institutions. The visiting delegates positively received this approach and were committed to proceed on it on their return back to the university. We hope that we can have the opportunity to launch an official cooperation program with Macquarie University very soon, which will be a landmark event for PSC.

The meeting was followed by a half-day long workshop where Dr. Julian Droogan of Macquarie University gave a key-note speech on “Countering Violent Extremism and Addressing Youth Radicalization”. Dr. Droogan provided a clear understanding of the process of youth radicalization and explored some effective tools in response. In this light, the workshop discussed the insights and experiences of corresponding research of the academia, and present case studies from around the world. It also focused on the rich, multifaceted landscape of youth online engagement, particularly youth-led initiatives that are paving the way ahead to reduce the menace. It was a live and interactive session where comparatively a new topic like radicalization was delivered to the audience in an easy, laudable and lucid way. After the workshop, Dr. Droogan joined a group photo session and a luncheon program with PSC faculties and the participants

Dr. Julian has a vast expertise on Terrorism Research. Macquarie University has a well-established setting on terrorism research which is led by Dr. Julian. His research projects include an ongoing program examining and assessing Countering Violent Extremism (CVE) in Australia, especially at ways that academics and industry can work together to produce CVE outcomes. He is one of the members of the CVE Expert Council of New South Wales (NSW) Premier. Dr. Julian has made substantial and regular contributions to the radio and television in both Australia and internationally, particularly on issues of countering violent extremism, radicalization, Asia-Pacific security issues, and global religion, e.g. BBC, ABC News etc. He has contributed Editorials to news sources The Australian. Dr. Julian is the Editor-in-Chief of the Journal of Policing, Intelligence and Counter Terrorism (JPICT), published by Routledge.
