Rector's Message

This issue of the Newsletter takes a special place in my heart since it is the first newsletter that comes out during my tenure as the Rector of PSC. Therefore, I shall take the privilege to highlight some of the multifarious activities which have already performed with our vision and mission.

In this term, PSC attains a momentum for its new era, an era of opportunity and prospect. The long awaited 17th Board of Governors meeting was held on September 22, 2020. It is note that PSC is governed by the Board of Governors composed of a high level 13 member's body headed by the Honorable Minister, Ministry of Home Affairs. It has responsibility for the strategic direction and overall governance and management. The BoG also provided advice, guidance and support to ensure the successful achievement of PSC's mission.

During the tenure PSC conducted regular core courses .Apart from that, Research and Publication wing, PSC conducted several seminars on methodology of research projects for the fiscal year 2019-20 which will surely guide the researchers to achieve optimum results and findings. Signing of MoU with PSC and Mowlana Bhashani Science and Technology University, Tangail, Human Development Research Center (HDRC), Bangladesh Institute of Development Studies (BIDS), and National Academy for Planning and Development are surely a giant step to pave an investable bond of understanding among the institutions and beyond. Our Annual Report – 2019 came out of the press in this period.

We have also completed enrollment of students, 5th Batch, in the Master of Applied Criminology and Police Management (MACPM) course. In this connection we received enormous support from all corners. The students of MACPM are composed of Officers from Bangladesh Police, Armed Forces, other government organs and corporations.

I would like to congratulate the PSC officers who got promoted to Superintendent of Police, as a reward of their dedication and commitment. This promotion will motivate them to work vigorously with more decisive role.

At the end, before I conclude, I would like to take the opportunity to warmly thank all my colleagues whose efforts were relentless behind the publication of this issue. I look forward to your continued support and commitment in the future. I wish everyone a happy, joyous and enlightening reading to the Newsletter.

Background:

In the year of 2020, due to the COVID-19 pandemic, violence against women and girls (VAWG), particularly domestic violence, has escalated worldwide. The COVID-19 pandemic has exacerbated vital risk factors for VAWG, such as food shortages, unemployment, economic insecurity, frustation, school closures, massive migration flows, panic and the threat of civil unrest. There has been an alarming increase in multiple forms of violence against women and girls, mostly physical, psychological, sexual, and economic structures of domestic violence fueled by household economic and food insecurity and confined living conditions due to lockdown and social isolation measures. The effects on women's rights and exercise of freedom and bodily autonomy are already visible and extensively documented by the first responders in the field. The UN Secretary-General urged all governments to prevent and redress violence against women and girls, a crucial part of their national response plans for COVID-19. The UN System's 16 Days of activism activities will begin on November 25th under our 2020 global theme, aligning with the UN Political Engagement Strategy: Orange the World: Fund, Respond, Prevent, Collect!

1. The non-police students are expected to be social worker, human rights activist, lawyer or media personnel so it is very likely that this course would be a wonderful mixture of different stakeholders of police that would have a positive impact on the efficacy of criminal justice system in the long run,
2. Further, the non-police students could actually grasp the challenges of policing through this study which will change their mindset about the misconception over policing.
3. Furthermore, this police-public blending will be an important catalyst to promote community policing in Bangladesh.

The Masters Course is designed to study on applied sides of crime and police management with a strong emphasis on contemporary policy and practices. It is an up-to-date and high-quality course for the eligible students aimed at developing skills, expertise and knowledge to think critically about the dynamics and patterns of crime as well as how the efficient leaderships can be grown to address these challenges in the globalized world.

Promotion Smiles

A promotion can mean a lot of things to an individual, depending on his priorities. It denotes a movement up the career ladder leading the person a step (or a rung) closer to the higher position that he has been aiming for.

Along with that rise is an elevation of his status or the esteem he gets from others in the workplace. It is also a given that the promotion comes with more tasks and duties and, most definitely, heavier responsibilities.

PSC is proud to announce that a good number of its officers have recently been blessed with promotion. They spent a good number of years in service painstakingly climbing the ranks with their dedication and commitment to work.

December 2020, three faculty members of PSC have been promoted to Superintendent of Police.
