Preface

Police Staff College
Bangladesh
Newsletter, 3rd Issue,
September-December 2012

It is a great pleasure for me to welcome you all to the 3rd Issue of Police Staff College Bangladesh Newsletter, September-December 2012.

An organization without a solid policy, backed by constant training, evaluation and monitoring, is asking for trouble when it comes time to enforce the law. Police officers should enjoy the luxury of skill, competence and knowledge in the legal and operational areas being developed through training at Police Staff College Bangladesh. The outcome of training can formulate best practices to help police in managing field level activities.

The Newsletter may attract readers to identify a work-related purpose that we do here. I would like to spell out our priorities that we are setting to achieve desired results.

I hope you will enjoy our endeavor!

Md. Nazmul Haque PPM

Senior Officers' Training on Intelligence for proactive crime control

Intelligence is considered as eye or ear of a law enforcing agency, although almost none of the field units of Bangladesh Police either has institutional infrastructure to collect or collate crime-related intelligence or has trained or skilled manpower to store or process it.

Mr. Md. Moazzem Hussain, Director (Administration) addressing the participants of 3rd Crime Intelligence Course

Nonetheless, Police time and again prove their far above the ground proficiency in reactive policing and often draw positive attention of mass media for its laborious investigation skill. But in maintaining (or updating) personal profile of habitual criminals or to monitor their activities/movements, few field police units have any organizational infra-structure. Of course, Bangladesh Police time and again demonstrated its success in preventing militant attacks, subversive or anti-state activities through proactive intelligence; and credit goes to Police Intelligence Agencies like Special Branch. Nevertheless Bangladesh Police have more than enough potentialities to develop or to maintain intelligence on criminal activities like women and child trafficking, drug trafficking, motor cycle lifting, bank note forgery, 'Jiner Badsha', 'Hello Party', cattle lifting, transformer theft, multi-level marketing or pyramid fraud, trafficking in human being etc. These kinds of organized crimes are hardly kept under surveillance institutionally and as a result, when something really bad occurs, such absence of proactive policing cause engagement or deployment of additional man, materials and attention than it would generally require. Moreover, investigation in absence of criminal intelligence leads merely arrest of some field operatives, which hardly do have any functional impact on the continuous operational capability of crime-dealers or godfathers deployed in the field.

Undoubtedly, technology plays a crucial role in today's police investigations. But repeated usage of CDR as evidence leads to leaking investigators' formula out causing future criminals smarter to avoid similar mistakes and to setting him or his associates off in further-trapped into investigators' technique. CDRs are, therefore, to be used as indicators of crime intelligence, not as 'evidence', like it is mistakenly done very frequently. Another amazing crucial factor is that CDRs are usually dealt and analyzed by the officers, who neither have any skill or training on this kind of analysis nor have necessary software to analyze or generate necessary intelligence. This results in very low output even from a source of potential high-quality data. The question is how long we will allow low-skilled investigators to deal with such crucial data. Also, how long we will continue our reactive policing - a policing without support of criminal intelligence?

4th Crime Intelligence Course

It has therefore become mandatory now to form a kind of Crime Intelligence Cell (CIC) or Criminal Intelligence Unit (CIU) in each operational unit. Under direct supervision of SP or Police Commissioner, such CIC/CIU will be responsible primarily for analyzing CDR.

Mr. Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh is awarding certificate to one of the Participants of 5th Crime Intelligence Course

This will also collect, collate or analyze crime intelligence, identify field operatives or their associates/godfathers involved in various organized crime and will maintain individual criminal's profile [it is hardly done by any organization now - even VCNB is something that hardly exists in today's policing]. CIC is to assist investigators in collecting evidence against arrested/suspected accused, lastly not the least will predict future crime trend of the locality. CIC will optimistically enable Unit Commanders to monitor activities of criminals of their AOR and allow him to take necessary preventive actions controlling disturbances made by field operatives or crime-dealers involved in drug trafficking, motor cycle lifting, bank note forgery, 'Jiner Badsha', 'Hello Party', cattle lifting, transformer theft, even dealings like illegal banking or pyramid fraud, which causes loss of property of many low-income people and creates serious annoyance to the governance or mistrust to the rule of law.

Link chart of Jiner badsha /Hello party prepared by the participants

As it has been mentioned at the beginning, in spite of intelligence being the eyes and ears of a law enforcing agency, none of the field units of Bangladesh Police [including CID] either has any institutional infra-structure to collect or collate crime-related intelligence or has trained or skilled manpower to store or process it. Considering such gigantic slit in functional policing, a number of steps have been taken by Police Staff College Bangladesh, as mentioned below:

- a. A total number of 140 senior officers from various operational units including 64 districts, 6 Metropolitans, Special branch, CID, Highway, Railway, industrial police have been provided training on Crime Intelligence with a special focus on Call Data Record analysis. Participants have also been provided training on specially-developed software solely for this purpose.
- b. Each officer was accompanied by a computer operator of rank ASI/Constable, who also received operational training on the application software. Hence, upon arrival to own unit, officer from each unit will be capable to run a Crime Intelligence Unit or CIU, as mentioned above.

Inaugural Ceremony of 6th Crime Intelligence Course

A letter was also sent from Mr. Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh to Inspector General with a request to advise the field units to utilize their trained manpower in analyzing crime related information and converting/processing raw information to crime intelligence. It was expected that each unit will grow up its own skilled manpower that are to be capable of dealing crime intelligence and of contributing through CIC/CIU to enhance the operational capability of Superintendent of Police or Police Commissioner in proactive policing.

Police Staff College Bangladesh is grateful to the concerned resource persons including Mr. Mohammad Javed Patwary, Additional Inspector General of Police of Special Branch, Mr. Benazir Ahmed, BPM (bar), Commissioner of Dhaka Metropolitan Police, also the proud founder first ever institutionalized Crime Intelligence Division solely responsible for crime intelligence of the capital, Mr. Abdul Jalil, Additional Commissioner of the same unit, Ms. Yasmeen Ghafur, Commandment of Special Branch Training School and some other prudent mid-ranking officers from SB, CID and DMP. Mr. Md. Shah Alam, Additional DIG and Director of Police Staff College Bangladesh developed the course curriculum and conducted the training with the sincere and hard-working support of his prudent colleagues and associates.

Police Staff College Bangladesh is also planning to provide training to newly formed Police Bureau of Investigations or PBI to facilitate them in collecting, collating or analyzing criminal intelligence.

Border Control Management

Border Control Management is a 2-week course for mid- to senior-level border control managers and supervisors with on-site operational responsibility for border ports of entry. This course is intended to introduce the tools and techniques required to understand and address current border management issues.

Through a series of lectures, discussions, and problem-solving activities, you will learn how to identify terrorism threats to borders and solutions for neutralizing and mitigating those threats. You will also learn about current terrorist methods and threats, including an awareness of chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear, and explosive (CBRNE) materials and the equipment and methods used to build these devices. A variety of strategies for hardening the border against terrorist attack and exploitation by terrorists, from equipment and placement to policies and personnel, will be introduced. Throughout the course, you will apply strategies and tactics to fact-based, fictitious tactical problems in varied border environments.

Participants of Border Control Management Course with the management of Police Staff College Bangladesh

This course will cover such topics as respecting human rights, trends in terrorism, conducting a threat assessment, physical and operational vulnerabilities at the border, combating vulnerabilities at the border, controlled materials at the border, managing personnel and equipment, communication at the border, preservation of evidence, integrity controls, providing information to the public, and interagency and international cooperation.

At the conclusion of this course, the participants will be able to:

- Plan, organize, and manage border operations.
- Develop plans and methods for better port of entry security.
- Develop guidelines for the dissemination of intelligence.
- Coordinate efforts among agencies.
- Implement border monitoring equipment and techniques.

Twenty-Eight officers from Bangladesh Army, Bangladesh Police, Border Guard Bangladesh, Customs & Excise, and Passport Office participated in Border Control Management Course.

Major Case Management Course Description

The Major Case Management course uses lecture, group discussion, small group breakouts, group exercises, and case reviews to identify and illustrate currently accepted best practices of investigative management.

Bernard N. Nixon, RSO, Regional Security Office, US Embassy, Dhaka addressing the Participants in the Graduation Ceremony of Major Case Management(MCM) Course

This course provides participants with an understanding of the principles used to effectively manage all aspects of major criminal investigations, including multi-organization and terrorism-related investigations, in a manner that preserves the integrity of the case for successful prosecution.

- Given a scenario, develop a plan specifying objectives, tasks, and required resources for an investigation
- Given a scenario, determine the operational and support functions and organizational structure needed for an ongoing investigation
- Given a scenario, develop and deliver a briefing that identifies methods for managing investigative information
- In a role-playing environment, deliver a media briefing
- Given a scenario, develop a plan for forming a task force to manage a major case

Community Policing for Senior Officers

"The closer a Police Officer's relationship is with people of his unit, the more people s/he knows and the more those people trust her/him, the greater her/his chances of reducing crime"

--- Charles Eliot Silberman, 'Criminal Violence, Criminal Justice', 1978, USA

Md. Matiur Rahman Sheikh, Director (Training), Police Staff College Bangladesh, addressing the Participants of Training on Community Policing for Senior Officers

Community policing focuses on crime and social disorder through the delivery of police services that include aspects of traditional law enforcement, as well as prevention, problem-solving, community engagement, and partnerships. It balances reactive responses to calls for service with proactive problem-solving centered on the causes of crime and disorder. It requires police and citizens to join together as partners. Since Bangladesh is a densely populated country, police-people ratio is obviously higher, and this may be the prime cause why we have to resort to community policing.

In the last quarter (September - December 2012) two courses on Community Policing were held at Police Staff College Bangladesh organized by Police Reform Programme (PRP). The first one was held from 24 September to 26 September 2012 and the second one from 20 November to 22 November 2012. A total number of 43 Police Officers from Additional SP to ASP attended the Courses.

Training Needs Assessment

Three-day long course organized by Police Reform Programme (PRP) titled 'Training Needs Assessment' was held in two phases during the last quarter (September - December 2012). The first phase was held from 25 September to 27 September 2012 in which 16 participants of the rank of Inspector to Addl SP from different units of Bangladesh Police participated. On 19 November 2012, 48 Officers from DMP took part in a day-long Workshop on Training Needs Assessment.

Mr. Andre Redman, Capacity Building Specialist, Police Reform Programme, UNDP, speaking on the Inaugural Ceremony of the course on 'Training Needs Assessment'

It is presumed that after the completion of the training, the participants will be able to:

1. Describe the basic concepts related to Training Needs Assessment (TNA)
2. Identify stakeholders for TNA for Bangladesh Police
3. Select appropriate tools for TNA and apply those for collecting data
4. Analyze data and make recommendations as TNA outputs

Basic Computer Course

Police Staff College Bangladesh is taking regular initiatives to upgrade the qualities of its supporting staff by training them and familiarizing them with modern technologies. Basic Computer Course is one of the examples of such kind of initiatives. Twelve participants of the rank of SI, ASI, Constable and civil staff attended the course and successfully completed it. The course started on 24 July 2012 and continued up to 21 October 2012.

Md. Shah Alam, Director (Curriculum), Police Staff College Bangladesh, addressing on the Graduation Ceremony of Basic Computer Course

Celebration of Victory Day

Victory Day is celebrated at Police Staff College Bangladesh with due respect patriotic fervour. On the eve of the Victory Day, the whole campus of Police Staff College Bangladesh was beautifully decorated. A program titled 'Bijoy Dibosh: Amader Protyasha o Koroniya' was held at Police Staff College Bangladesh. Mr. Md. Nazmul Haque PPM, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh was the Chief Guest in the programme.

Md. Anwar Hossain Khan, Director (Research), Police Staff College Bangladesh, speaking on the Victory Day Programme
