Rector's Message

Dear Colleagues and Readers,

Welcome to the issue no. 15 of the PSC Newsletter! This issue brought you my 2nd Newsletter since I take up the Rector's role. Within my tenure, I am very impressed with the growth of PSC in all aspects- training, research, academic and administrative development.

In this current issue you will get some historic achievements of PSC. In this July 2016, PSC has introduced its first ever academic degree on 'Masters in Applied Criminology and Police Management' (MACPM). This course has opened a new era in the history of its venture. We hope the MACPM graduates will be better equipped to counter traditional, contemporary and emerging issues of crime such as terrorism, human trafficking, and money laundering etc. in the coming decades.

This year PSC has got another landmark success. PSC is awarded the prestigious Australia Awards Fellowship Round 16 this year with Australia's Macquarie University through which a total fifteen fellows (Bangladesh Police officials) including the PSC faculties are going to Macquarie University, Sydney in April 2017 to attend a three-week long course on 'Countering Violent Extremism Professional Development Course' organized by the Department of Security Studies and Criminology of this university. It is fully funded by the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Australian Government. This opportunity will not only increase the skills and knowledge of the participants but also deepen and broaden a potential link with Australia's leading research and academic hub – Macquarie University.

In this issue you will be updated on the 15th Board of Governors meeting of PSC held on 26 October 2016 presided over by the Chairman of the Board of Governors, honorable Minister, Ministry of Home Affairs, Government of the Peoples' Republic of Bangladesh. Some important executive decisions have been taken in this meeting.

At this point, I would like to acknowledge the contribution of the PSC team and their hard works and dedication to achieve our goals and set an example to be an exemplary institution for learning in the coming era. I am also thankful to the PSC's Academic and Research Wing team to bring out this issue to light in such lucid and readable manner.

I hope that you will enjoy reading this issue! PSC Newsletter values your contribution and I look forward to your continuous support in the coming issue. Let me close up by again offering my sincere thanks for everyone's support from their respective fields. Whether you live nearby or far away, I wish your happiness, health, and prosperity in this New Year 2017!

Launching of First Ever Professional Academic Degree

Master of Applied Criminology and Police Management

We live in a challenging time where global interconnected world, technological sophistication are continuously evolving which emerge with the change of criminal dynamics and settings. To face such an advanced criminal environment we have to be smarter, more prompt, coordinated and dedicated than before. Policing in this complex era of globalization has become an extremely difficult, sensitive and challenging job. To streamline with the changing trends and diversified criminal enterprises, policing has to rise to an optimum level of professional excellence keeping in line with the international criminological and human rights standards.

This necessity creates the demand of study on crime and criminology across the world. Police Staff College also grasps this notion and initiated to develop a professional development course for the police/non police personnel. Although, since its inception, PSC has been striving to offer such a degree, in 2016 PSC becomes successful to shed light on its enduring interest.

The long deserving event came to light on 25th July 2016 through introducing the professional Masters Course on “Masters in Applied Criminology and Police Management” at Police Staff College Bangladesh. It is inaugurated by the Honorable Inspector General of Bangladesh Police AKM Shahidul Haque bpm ppm. Pro-Vice Chancellor (Academic), National University Dr. Hazif Md. Hasan Babu was present as Special Guest and Dr. M Sadiq-ur Rahman, Rector, Police Staff College Bangladesh presided over the inaugural ceremony. High official of Bangladesh Police, teachers from different Universities, Students of the Master’s program and PSC faculties attended that ceremony.

Total 28 members of Bangladesh Police from ASP to SP admitted to this professional Master’s program for the year 2016-2017 as the pioneer batch.

This program emphasizes on crime reduction policy and practices along with the development of leadership skill, which will help to strengthen professional knowledge and skills on policing. As a new course, it is taken as a pilot program and hence is introduced only for the mid-level police executives. But from the next year, students from various backgrounds will be eligible to enroll into this program. This course is open to all for three important reasons: the non-police students are expected to be social worker, human rights activist, lawyer or media personnel so it is very likely that this course would be a wonderful blending of different stakeholders of police that would have a positive impact on the efficacy of criminal justice system in the long run, further the non-police students could actually grasp the challenges of policing through this study which will change their mindset about the misconception over policing and furthermore this police-public blending will be an important catalyst to promote community policing in Bangladesh. All these factors will ultimately increase the positive image of police.

The Masters Course is designed to study on applied sides of crime and police management with a strong emphasis on contemporary policy and practices. It is an up-to-date and high-quality course for the eligible students aimed at developing skills, expertise and knowledge to think critically about the dynamics and patterns of crime as well as how the efficient leaderships can be grown to address these challenges in the globalized world.

The program is a part-time course that will proceed mostly in the evening sessions and in the weekends. It takes place over one year in two semesters starting in the July academic year. It has incorporated sixteen key modules and it possesses 40 credits. It also accommodates a unit of Executive English Language skill, which is a non-credit unit aims at strengthening the skills of communicative English of the students. The modules cover a wide range of topics and use a range of delivery styles including seminars, lectures, symposia, practical exercises and supervised research to make them participatory, interesting and effective. The supervised research is allocated on a one-to-one basis and exclusively designed to develop analytical skill of the students. The teachers are selected considering their academic excellence in their respective subjects. They are from police and reputed universities. Students are provided with the independent study times. They have access to college library, computer and internet facilities. In some cases, student support materials will be available through virtual learning system.

Upon completion of the degree, the graduates are expected to be better prepared to assume leadership roles and act as change agents in the police department by conducting improved policy analysis and assessing police effectiveness through a rigorous research approach. They will also be able to identify the current trends in the areas of policing, criminal justice system and criminology.

This achievement is indeed an inclusive effort of Police Staff College who is privileged to get some visionary and prudent leaderships during its tenures, Police Headquarters who provided their sincere patronization and thoughtful guidance time-to-time, National University under which this degree will be conferred and who endowed with unconditional and continuous support to PSC to make this endeavor alive during its hard time, the learned academic scholars who despite their busy schedule got patience, applied their best thoughts and academic wisdom to develop this curriculum up to the mark and above all a bunch of PSC's devoted and committed staff who never gave up their hopes and aspirations and were always enthusiastic and energetic to establish this program.

PSC Achieves the Australia Awards Fellowship with the Macquarie University, Australia:

Developing institutional capacity of Bangladesh Police and Building International Network

Bangladesh Police is facing a host of Countering Violent Extremism (CVE)/Counter Terrorism (CT) related challenges such as the growing threats of religious extremism and an acute shortage of professional development opportunities in CVE/CT. Bangladesh Police has limited scope of capacity building and inadequacy of systematic trainings on counter terrorism as we have less expertise on this particular subject. Upholding Bangladesh Government's zero tolerance approach to terrorism, Bangladesh Police puts much emphasizes on capacity building on counter terrorism so that the trained officials can critically analyze the terrorism issues and its complex dynamics. It will help them contextualizing the problem under Bangladesh situation that would lead them to efficiently and effectively deal with the issue.

Under this backdrop, PSC sought request to Australia's leading Macquarie University to develop a professional development course for Bangladesh Police to effectively deal with terrorism issues. Noteworthy to mention that Macquarie University is increasingly becoming attractive to the world's security sectors' professionals and learners for its offering unique course which combines all aspects of security studies- policing, intelligence, counter terrorism and cyber security. The university has a group of highly qualified and experienced academicians and practitioners in the dedicated subjects. Under this backdrop, PSC urged the Department of Security Studies and Criminology to exchange their expertise with PSC. The knowledge and skills Bangladesh Police will acquire from them will be immediately applicable to the country's counter terrorism efforts.

We are highly delighted that Macquarie University has responded to the request of PSC. Macquarie University's Department of Security Studies and Criminology has developed the 'Countering Violent

Rector Dr. M. Sadiq-ur-Rahman with Australian high Commissioner

Extremism Professional Development Program for Bangladesh Police' for the 15 mid to senior level police officials, which will be implemented under the Australia Awards Fellowship Round 16 program to be held on 23 April - 13 May, 2017 at Macquarie University, Sydney. Through AccessMQ, Dr. Julian Droogan of Macquarie University, country's renowned CVE expert and Security Adviser of NSW Premier leads this AusAID funded program with the aim to build our conceptual understanding of the issues surrounding CVE, including Australian and global best practice in law enforcement responses to community sufferings from the pressures of radicalization to extremism and violence.

The training program capitalizes on the expertise of staff delivering Macquarie University's Master of Policing, Intelligence and Counter Terrorism, as well as guests from the public and private sector working on CVE, to provide an interactive, holistic and engaging learning environment for middle-rank and senior police officers of Bangladesh Police. The course is designed in a way that the participants will be guided to create the conceptual and critical knowledge and skills necessary to fully engage with contemporary CVE and counter terrorism issues, including the creation of policy solutions that are able to address the complexities of radicalization to violent extremism within a diverse society. The participants' ability to develop an appropriate governance framework that deliver effective law and justice in the area of violent extremism will also be enhanced.

The participants have been selected on the merit and gender basis, i.e. who secured top ranking in the PSC core courses over last one year (at the time of submission of the fellowship application to the DFAT) have been nominated for this course with a 50/50 split between male and female. Besides this, two PSC faculties are selected on gender basis of whom one is one of the senior most faculties and another one female, liaison official with Macquarie University and more specifically the MQ alumna. The nominated fellows have been also assessed having pivotal roles in policy formulation and the potential knowledge and skills to apply their learning outcomes in law enforcement surrounding the issues of counter violence extremism and counterterrorism. In addition, ability to communicate well in written and spoken English was considered and factored into the ranking.
